Matheson is the law firm of choice for internationally focused companies doing business in and from Ireland. For generations we have acted for internationally mobile clients and their families. We appreciate that business has no borders and our expert lawyers and tax advisers will provide you with clear advice tailored to the relocation of you and your family.

In addition to serving the private wealth needs of relocating executives, we also understand the unique issues that impact lifestyle relocators to Ireland. We co-ordinate the advice and guidance on issues to include obtaining a bank account, private healthcare, property search and school search.

- Immigration

Matheson can advise on the most appropriate status of immigration for your long term residence in Ireland with regard to your personal and structured wealth, your family's position and employment requirements.

In addition to employment permit applications, Matheson Relocation can advise on a suitable regime for applicants of independent personal wealth as well as longer term residency applications through Ireland's Immigrant Investor Programme.

We can also advise on the full range of citizenship applications to the Irish Naturalisation and Immigration Service.

- Tax and Succession Law

Our expert lawyers and tax advisers can address the impact of Irish tax residence for your own personal wealth and other sources of wealth of which you may be a beneficiary, such as non-resident family trusts.

We co-ordinate with international tax advisors and investment managers to ensure that our approach recognises not only the Irish tax system, but also any impact of your home jurisdiction.

We also advise on the longer term impact of Irish tax residency from a succession law perspective, including the consideration of the impact of existing estate planning solutions prior to arrival in Ireland. It is important that relocators obtain Irish tax advice prior to establishing Irish tax residence to achieve the optimum Irish tax position.
