Stuart McKenzie

Senior Vice President

Mandiant Consulting EMEA

Stuart McKenzie is an experienced Cyber professional who heads up the Mandiant Consulting Practice in Europe, Middle East and Africa. In this capacity Mr. McKenzie not only runs the consulting practice but is the trusted advisor to some of the regions largest clients.

In his role, Mr. McKenzie advises organisation on threat, response, remediation and recovery from cyber threats. In this capacity, he advises senior business leaders and board members. He has an understanding of business issues and cyber challenges; these skills have allowed him to work as an advisor to many of EMEA's largest business in both a proactive and reactive cyber capacity.

Immediately prior to joining Mandiant, Mr. McKenzie worked for another UK based Cyber Consultancy. He initially joined as a Lead Investigator leading Incident Response investigations for large corporate clients. He helped organizations prepare for cyber incidents and educated boards as to the threat landscape. He moved on to be Head of Incident Response and a board member, running the Response Practice and setting the direction of travel of the business.

Mr. McKenzie spent 12 years working in Central Government in a variety of cyber roles. This culminated in being part of the team that protected the London Olympics from Cyber threat. He worked in both project and operational functions within government leading multi-million pound projects and in operating in challenging operational environments.
